Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Ringwood the Rover: A Tale of Florida The eyes of all that little group were intently fixed upon the sea, from which it would appear the apprehended danger - if apprehended danger it were, that gave rise to those tokens of surprise and preparation - was most to be expected; and in the visages of all, an evident expression of anxiety and doubt was marked, in its least doubtful character. But in the face of no one there, were there such signs of perturbation and dismay, as in that of the governor. He was a man of large and heavy build, a veteran of many a bloody war, with limbs which, although deprived somewhat of agility and lightness by the unsparing hand of time, were cast in a mould of iron; his features prominent, bold, and haughty, with a world of iron resolution in the firmly-compressed mouth and massive jaw, and a glance of intolerable fire in the dark eye; and his bearing, such as became a cavalier to whom the camp and court had...
